School memories

Sarah Rivera

In my first day of middle I was very scared. I began a new step in my live.

I wanted to wear very good clothing. I wanted to catch the best place to sit. At night I went to sleep at nine o'clock, for the second day not to have a difficulty to wake up. I dreamt of a perfect first day of middle school.

In 5th in the subject of physical education, I swam. I enjoyed eating the food of school. In mathematics. I liked writing the lessons. Sometimes I forgot my sweater, so one day I was freezing.

Now I didn't take the food of my house, I eat at school. That year, I learnt how to play volley ball. I never fought with my friends in a restaurant of sushi, we were singing, and the person who worked there threw us out. Sometimes, I didn't bring water for sport. I am fond of blowing bubbles, because it is very funny.

In 6th I remember, I was lost in school. In sport, in

Resolutions

POEM

My last year of school is a time to remember,
I want to work hard right from September.
If I had enough sense I'd learn my lessons every day,
Then revising for exams would be child's play !

I love swimming, and running, and climbing you see,
So my weekends are full of fun things for me.
There is never any time to sit and learn,
But I'll try my best, or I might crash and burn !

My friend's profile

My friend's profile

My friend is Emma, she was born on May 24th, 2004, and also she was born in Quito, Ecuador.

Emma is crazy about reading books, her favorite writer is Maria Dueña. In the subject of Spanish her favorite teachers are Elena and Silvia.

She dislikes sports, for example, volley-ball, climbing and tennis.

My friend likes English better than physical education. She is impatient, but she is good at writing, and sometimes she is average at drawing.

Emma intends to get married at 22 years old. Her best friend is Matias.

Emma hates one fruit, the papaya. The place in Ecuador she likes the most is Puenbo.

Photo + artist

(Vivian Maier's biography) Vivian Maier was born in 1926. She was American, as a nanny and she took more than 150 000 photos secretly and hid them in storage lookers. They were discovered decades later. She died in 2009.

For her self portraits she used the reflection technique and all her photos are in black and white, and most set on for street.

(description of Vivian Maier's photo) In the photo of Vivian Maier we can see that the expression of her face is indifferent, since it is serious and there is no expression is her, her dress is appropriate and common in her time, she also has an additional accessory, a hat. His picture is a reflection in a very large window, but even so, things can be distinguished very well between them, in his photo you can see his camera and the landscape behind, which is the route and a building.

(description of my photo) In my photo we can see my reflection in the mirror, I'm smiling, and I'm sitting on top of the sinks of toilets, because if I did not, the photo would be ugly, we can also see that I'm whit a sweater of Otavalo.

I am crazy about sweater of Otaval, because they are soft and have a decoration whit some different shapes.

I decided to take this picture at school because there was a very big mirror and also because most of my life I have spent here.

(comparison of two photos) My photo looks like Vivian Maier's, since her photo is a reflection in the mirror, the two photos are black and white, but her case is because at the time I took that photo there were no color photos, but in my case it's because I do not have color prints.

Poster self-portrait

The difference is that in the photo of Vivian Maier, she shows her camera and she took it herself, mine was taken by a friend, the place changes a lot, since her picture is taken in an outdoor place, and my photo is taken in the bathroom, his reflection was not thanks to a mirror, but in his the reflection is made by a large glass, unlike mine which is equally large, but is a mirror.

My Chinese portrait

If I were a clothing brand, I'd be Bershka because it is very cool.

If I were a place, I'd be the beach, because I like it fully.

If I were an instrument, I'd be a violin, because I touch it young.

If I were a thing, I'd be a camera, because it captures the most beautiful moments.

If I were a momento of the day, I'd be the night, because I can see the stars.

If I were a planet, I'd be a mars.

Cinema

In this sequence about the cinema, we had to make a film review and convince our friends to go and watch this movie

Movie great

Johnny Depp
 Johnny Depp, his full name Johnny Christopher Depp. He's a very talented and well-known actor. He is American and was born on June 9th, 1963, in Kentucky, New York.

He married several times, with different women, of those four marriage he has two children. He's not currently married.

Johnny is not a reconized actor, he is also a film producer, director, scriptwriter and musician. His favorite music genre is rock, he is member of a band called "Hollywood vampires", in which he plays the guitar.

He has always gone to all the nominations he has had, but for him it is not important to win these prizes. There was a occasion in which he was nominated for a "Black Mass" award, in which when he went, he said that these awards mean that you are competing whith someone, and that he does not compete with anyone. He just focuses on his work and does what he has to do, sometimes people don't like it, but nothing happens.

Film review

Charlie and the chocolate Factory.

The genre of this movie is fantasy and adventure.

Willy Wonka decides to let five children into his chocolate Factory, he decides to reléase five Golden tickets around the work.

The film tells how all the tickets reach the fives childrens. Each child's experience in the factory is very unique. The end is very happy and unexpected.

This movie has six important characters, but there are only two main characters.

In general, the clothes of each carácter describe them very well. And they are well chosen because it combines with the theme of the film.

This movie is very funny and the colors are very cheerful, it also has some very entertaining scenes.

The movie has many special effects, since it is a fantasy movie.

I really liked this movie because it is very creative and entertaining, there is no time when you get bored.

The story of eachg child is also interesting, how they end after leaving the factory.

The Windrush Generation

Activity 1 Commenting on Pictures

Look at the following pictures and map. and guess answer the question on page 41.

Testimonies

Vince Reid

My parents brought me on the Windrush - I had no choice in the matter. They didn't have to - it was obvious they came in search of a better life, better opportunities. It was quite a devastating experience. I was thirteen when I arrived so I wasn't a man, I was a boy. Most of the people on the Windrush were men. I had never been out of Kingston same as for anybody, to go on this big ship, for all those days it was quite an experience.

I went to school in Kings Cross. I never associated with white people in any significant degree, and then school I came across real hostility. I mean to say I had no friends for several years that wouldn't be far from the truth.

I only had friends when I had gone through the Airforce and came out. I joined the Airforce when I was sixteen, what they call a boy entrant an Airforce apprentice. By the time I came out there were more black people in this country.

I am 62 years old now. I have been here 50 years . I would prefer to live here. Well, my family is here, my wife, my grandchildren are here.

I have no significant roots in Jamaica. I have been back to Kingston several times. My circumstances were significantly different to everyone else's, but personally I like England, it's a nice place to live. It's not to say it doesn't have its problems, racism and so on.

Testimony of a Jamaican migrant

Testimony

My name is Lauren Grey, when I emigrated to the UK I was 17 years old. It was a very difficult time, the reason why all this had to happen was because we had economic problems and my parents needed to find a better job. I was very afraid, for me everything was completely new. Everything happened in 1948. I boarded the Empire Windrush. When I arrived at my new school, I could not fit, since I was very shy. Things made me sadder when I found out that I had to stay in England. When I arrived the reaction of people was not so bad, some people discriminated against me because I was not from a high social rank, but with time everything improved. Time later I could be independent, and I found a job in a coffee shop in the city.

Philippe Richard

Hello, my name is Philip Richard and I come from Jamaica. When I was fourteen years old I was forced by my parents to go to the motherland, the United Kingdom. Once there, I worked as a waiter in a restaurant in London. At twenty-five I entered the Army. As a soldier, I got injured while I was taking part in the battlefield. After ten years serving the Army I decided to go back to Jamaica to visit my parents and try to find about a possible job. My parents were very glad when they saw me, but unfortunately, I couldn't find a job. So, I came back to the United Kingdom to start my own business. Then I married a good-looking lady named Elizabeth and we had two children. My marriage made me stay in England forever.

The Mardi Gras festival is a period of seven days in which people dance, sing, make parades in the streets. It comes from the seven fat days practiced in the Catholic religion in the church. In those seven days people were supposed to eat fat food. The Mardi Gras is a religious period that comes from New Orleans. Mardi Gras comes just after Easter and the festival of ???

Mardi Gras is followed by Ash Wednesday and Lent, during which Christians are invited to "eat lean" by abstaining from meat. It is therefore just before the period of fasting, that is to say - according to the old expression - before the "Lent-entering", or the "fast-taking".

Carnival

Carnivals are popular all over the world. We all chose to present a famous carnival to the rest of the class.

Tenerife carnival

Tenerife's carnival

- This tradition began in the XVth century, imported into the island by the Spanish conquistadors. During the Franco regime in Tenerife it was forbidden, but it was yet clandestinely celebrated under the name of 'winter festival'. After a long time, during the 70s, the carnival was official authorized.
- The Tenerife's carnival is one of the most famous international festivals in the world. It is celebrated in the Canary Islands in Spain. The first official celebration in Tenerife was in 1975.
- This festival lasts about 15 days. Different activities, contests and musical groups are presented in addition to impressive parades.
- The famous carnival begins with 'Piñata Chica', a day that consists of parades, shows and a considerable number of dances. The next day comes the 'Caso' in which you can see the presentations of allegorical cars. The tenth day of the carnival is the most important since takes place the election of the queen of the carnival, there are three different categories, the child, the adult and one for the queens of the elderly. It is taken into account the best makeup maquillage and hairstyle. The winner will be proclaimed queen of the carnival until the following year. To conclude the festivity, the last parade is called the 'Cavalcade' which, led by the queen, runs through the city in its entirety.
- In 1987 the festivity appeared in the Guinness records like the mayor participation of public that was of 200 million of people.

Country of the Commonwealth

After dealing with Jamaican migration, we focused on the other countries of the Commonwealth and, by pairs, we presented one to the class.

The Commonwealth: a definition

The Commonwealth

The Commonwealth is an organization that is the result of a long period of British colonization all over the world. After each country finally gained their independence, they nevertheless remained within what is called the Commonwealth of Nations in order to get support and to develop thanks to privileged bonds.

They all share English as a common language, have the same goals and pledge allegiance to the Queen as their official, although essentially symbolic, Head of State.

The Commonwealth creates a sense of family and community among its members. It unites countries of different shapes and sizes under a common allegiance to the Crown.

There is no hierarchy, so the smallest or poorest countries are as equally represented as the largest or the wealthiest countries.

All the countries in the Commonwealth help each other with issues such as human rights and democracy, resolving conflicts, fighting against poverty, sustaining development and improving access to education and health care. This organization is entirely based on exchanges.

Its 53 members cover 30% of the world's population and half are aged under 25.

Despite their many differences, they unite every 4 years in a friendly competition, the Commonwealth Games.

Apple, Samsung and Sony face child labour claims

By Jane Wakefield, BBC, 19 January 2016.

Human rights organisation Amnesty has accused Apple, Samsung and Sony, among others, of failing to [...] ensure minerals used in their products are not mined by children.

Human rights organisation Amnesty [...] found children as young as seven working in dangerous conditions.

Cobalt is a vital component of lithium-ion batteries. The firms said that they had a zero tolerance policy towards child labour. [Amnesty] also collected the testimonies of children who allegedly work in the mines.

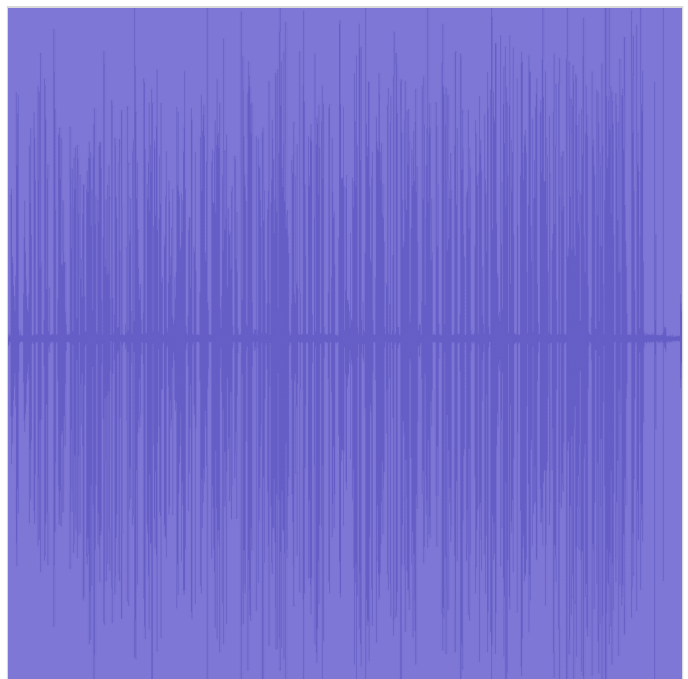

Paul, a 14-year-old orphan, started mining when he was 12 and told researchers: "I would spend 24 hours down in the tunnels. I arrived in the morning and would leave the following morning... I had to relieve myself down in the tunnels... My foster mother planned to send me to school, but my foster father was against it, he exploited me by making me work in the mine."

UNICEF estimates that there are approximately 40,000 children working in mines across southern Democratic Republic of Congo.
